

I completely support XM Satellite radio and what they are doing for me. I have never found a service before that can so completely and competently give me information about traffic and weather. Both are important in the way I handle work and school for any given day, allowing me to totally avoid traffic and know what I need to prepare for, weather-wise. I am a veteran of the last Iraqi conflict and the information that XM provides is one of the reasons why I joined the Marine Corps in the first place.

Sincerely,

James Trowbridge
